

Good Afternoon,

Unfortunately, we experienced a technical problem in the settings for the School Reopening Parent Forum that was held last night. This caused a number of parents to be unable to participate in the forum and we apologize for the inconvenience.

This link connects to the recording of last night's meeting for those who would like to view it and hear the discussion.

In addition, we are hosting a similar forum this evening to allow for another opportunity for parents to participate and ask questions. The meeting is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. tonight, August 13, 2020, and has a set capacity of 500 participants. The information to access the meeting is listed below:
